THREE CENTS

Snow-Bolton

Miss Virginia Ann Bolton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred I. Bolton, of West Northfield, and Edward Bagg Snow, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Snow, of Bernardston, were married last Saturday afternoon in the Congregational Church with the pastor, Rev. Joseph W. Reeves, officiating in a double ring service.

The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens and white chrysanthemums. Miss Betty Phelps was the organist and Frank Foster was the soloist.

Mrs. Claude Kenney, of Greenfield, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Lucille Bolton and Mary Jane Bolton, of the town, and Miss Eva Snow and Mrs. James McCrea, of Bernardston, sisters of the bridegroom. The best man was Irah Snow, of Bernardston, brother of the groom. The ushers were Philip H. Doolittle, James McCrea, Norman Bolton and Arah Snow.

The bride wore ivory brocaded satin with train, fingertip veil attached to a beaded Juliet cap, and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and white pompons.

The matron of honor wore gold afeta. Two of the bridesmaids were in yellow and two in orchid. All had matching hats and elbow-length mitts and carried contrasting bouquets of pompons and roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the vestry with Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Doolittle, the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred I. Bolton, the bride's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Snow, the groom's parents, with members of the bridal party in the receiving line. Friends of the bride acted as ushers at the reception and assisted in serving refreshments. The bride and groom left on an unannounced wedding trip and upon their return will make their home here.

School of Dancing

Announcement has been made that there will be a school for dancing again this year in the Town Hall on Saturday afternoons and evenings starting October 18.

"Bonnie" Jacobus will be the instructress and she undertakes the task based on an experience of past successes. Tap and ballet dancing will be taught. The "baby" group, ages 5 to 8, will meet at 1 o'clock; the middle group, ages 7 to 12, will meet at 2 o'clock, and the older group, ages 13 and up, will meet at 3 o'clock.

The beginners' ballroom dancing class will meet in the evening from 7.00 to 8.00.

The use of Town Hall has been approved by the Selectmen by rental and their act is very much appreciated by the mothers of the young people. Any additional information as to classes, cost and enrollment may be secured by calling Mrs. Jacobus on the phone, Northfield 852, or Mrs. David Hammond, Northfield 711.

The "Conway Hills"

A beautiful new painting of the "Conway Hills" by the well known artist, W. Lester Stevens, N.A., of Conway, will be added to the collection of many paintings of the Northfield School for Girls.

It is an unusual revelation of color with the details on canvas readily discerned, and will be appreciated by those privileged to see it. The artist has his home and studio in Conway and it is called Cricket Hill Studio, where during this month on Saturday and Sunday afternoons he is holding open house and invites friends and neighbors to see his exhibition of paintings and also to view the marvelous landscape with its colors of foliage which makes an autumn scene one of the finest in Franklin County. Northfield folks have a special invitation to visit.

Garden Club Elects

After the success of the flower show, held in the Chateau last August by the Garden Club, a seeming reaction followed and failed to produce a sufficient attendance at a recent meeting so that the annual session in September could not legally elect the new officials. However, the meeting scheduled for Monday evening of this week secured a quorum and the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

President, Grove W. Deming; vice-president, Mrs. Harold Bigelow; secretary, Miss Dolly Holton; assistant secretary, Louis M. Potts; treasurer, Rev. Edward Fairbank. Committee chairmen named were: Program, Mrs. George W. Carr; library, Miss Mercy Brann, and membership, Miss Mary Dalton.

The club has now about seventy members and has a good balance in the treasury. Following the election and business session Monday evening, Cotys M. Heselson, now a resident of this town, proprietor of the Gladside Gardens and a successful grower of "glads," gave a very interesting and instructive talk on gladioli.

The next meeting of the Garden Club will again be held in Alexander Hall on Monday evening, November 3. I. J. Lawrence is the retiring president.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hartwell, of this town, have purchased a home on the Factory Hollow Road in Gill and have moved there this week.

The New Inn For Northfield

It's Glenover Inn, located on the old parking of cars, including a large Winchester Road in the former Jane-barn.

For transient service, the dining room provides arrangement for meals at regular hours and for parties and social events. The Inn is owned and managed by Mr. and Mrs. Hermann W. Zinsch, formerly of Mount Vernon, New York. The opening of Glenover Inn provides another opportunity for tourists and others to seek the opportunity for a comfortable home during their stay in Northfield.

From every room a most beautiful view of the countryside is to be had. The opening of Glenover Inn provides another opportunity for tourists and others to seek the opportunity for a comfortable home during their stay in Northfield.

The annual meeting of the Congregational Church was held Wednesday evening at the church with a very large attendance of its members. Following a supper at 6.30 o'clock the business session followed, an account of which, and the result of the election, will be given in next week's "Press."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Britton observed their golden wedding in a quiet way at their home in Greenfield last Saturday. They were former residents of his town. Mr. Britton has been quite ill in the hospital recently and is now making a gradual recovery. Friends in Northfield remembered them with many greetings.

Hand-Made Bird Pins

Mrs. E. M. Powell has received a shipment of 22 different kinds of colored, carved bird lapel pins, and, until November 1, will take Christmas orders for these pins.

The pins are made in California by convalescents and people awaiting release from sanitariums; the entire proceeds of the sale goes to these invalids for their support.

The birds are on display every week-day morning, or by appointment with Mrs. Powell at Green Pastures.

Town Topics

On Sunday, October 12, the guest speakers at the Northfield Schools will be Rev. Nelson W. Bryant, rector of St. Mark's Church, Adams, Mass., in Russell Sage Chapel at 11 A. M., and the Rt. Rev. Appleton Lawrence, bishop of Western Massachusetts, Springfield, in Memorial Chapel, at 10.30 A. M.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Williams, of the old Ferry Road at the Farms, in the death of their 2-year-old son who passed away at the Franklin County Hospital last Saturday shortly after his arrival there. Funeral services were at McCarthy's Funeral Home in Greenfield with Rev. Everett Lyon officiating and burial was in West Swansey, N. H.

The height of the foliage season this year was reached last Tuesday when most brilliant colors predominated. On this day the Northfield School for Girls and Mount Holyoke College held their Mountain Day which proved to be exceptionally good weather.

Boxes To Crossmore

Last Friday two very large shipping boxes left the Northfield station of the Central Vermont Railroad destined for the Crossmore School at Crossmore, N. C. They contained very good material in the way of clothing, shoes, and other merchandise suitable for men's women's and children's use.

The boxes were sent by Mrs. Hohen, who for twelve years has collected and supervised the shipment, with the aid of friends who have annually been generous in their contributions. When Mrs. Mary Sloop, the principal of the school, was in Northfield many years ago, she made an appeal for such assistance which was urged by Mrs. William Moody and since that time the responsibility has been met by Mrs. Hohen who now thanks all those who have given and contributed.

From the school each year comes the gracious word that the effort has been appreciated.

Wedded Fifty Years

"The Press" last week announced the "open house" to all friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Doolittle of Ashuelot Road, for the observance of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding on last Saturday evening.

All evening long friends arrived to extend their greetings and enjoy the hospitality of the host and hostess. Refreshments were served and Mr. and Mrs. Doolittle were presented with appropriate gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Doolittle were married October 6, 1897, in Westboro, by Rev. M. A. Breed in the parsonage of the Congregational Church and for most of their married years have been residents of this community.

Mrs. Doolittle has been active in the affairs of the Congregational Church and of the Fortnightly. Mr. Doolittle, for many years a contractor and builder, was with the Lane Construction Company. He has been active in all town affairs, both civic and political, and has held several town offices. At present he is serving as town accountant and is rendering a very efficient service.

Mr. and Mrs. Doolittle have a son and two daughters, Alden H. Doolittle, of Nassau, N. Y.; Mrs. Fred I. Bolton, of West Northfield, and Mrs. E. A. French, of New York City; also nine grandchildren.

A $16 MILLION BET

ON WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS

In the next 5 years $16 million will be spent to extend and improve electric service in the western Massachusetts neighborhood.

That's a lot of money. It equals 1/3 of the total present plant investment of our company.

But we think it's a good bet. We have faith in the future growth of western Massachusetts as an ideal spot in which to live, work, and play.

This $16 million program includes a large new generating plant at West Springfield, new and improved sub-stations, extensions to rural areas, and improvements to lines and equipment.

Nearly everyone in western Massachusetts will benefit from this $16 million investment, yet not a penny of it is added to your tax bill. It is financed by thousands of investors who put their money to work in projects in which they have faith.

That is the American spirit of venture at work — a Five Year Plan, American style.
